

SIRIKOI ORGANIC GARDEN

The organic vegetable garden at Sirikoi is a hidden gem found just behind the lodge, with an avocado tree grove heavy with fruit all year round, an impressive variety of banana trees and berries, beautiful flowers for the lodge and plenty more.

The farm-to-table dining experience at Sirikoi is exceptional. Visiting the Sirikoi vegetable garden and taking a tour with George Kabere, the head groundsman, is an unexpected highlight for most guests - seeing first-hand what is involved in the organic farming process is fascinating and hugely rewarding. With spring water feeding the garden, naturally rich soil and equatorial sunshine, the garden produces an impressive amount of fruits, vegetables and herbs - over 80 in fact - which supply the lodge with the majority of its fresh produce.
